

Contract for RPN computers

In our class, we have the opportunity of using computer tools. Both computer and Internet are available for teaching purposes. Together, we have spoken of the advantages and risks that are inherent with this wonderful information tool; we have taken into consideration the following rules regarding its use.

1. At school, I may only access Internet with my teacher's permission. He or she can verify the sites visited.

2. In our school, access to Internet is reserved uniquely for projects and school work. I will not download software, games or music.

3. All that I find on Internet is not necessarily true, current or reliable.

BEN DIS DONC, ÇA A VACHEMENT AUGMENTÉ DEPUIS LA DERNIÈRE FOIS!

4. Should I discover any shocking contents on Internet, I will inform a trustworthy adult.

5. I will not open any emails with attached documents sent by someone unknown to me. I take full responsibility of emails I send.

6. I will not give out any information concerning myself (name, telephone number, email address, photo) to anyone I meet on Internet. I will take extreme care when filling in forms on-line.

7. Many elements accessible on Internet are protected by copyright; I cannot use them freely.

8. Should I publish any information found on Internet of which I am not the author, I will quote the sources of images and texts I use.

9. Thanks to Internet, I can come into contact with a large number of people. I will take care not to offend anyone by any remarks that I may make.

10. I cannot publish any insulting, racist, defamatory remarks nor malevolent images on sites, social networks, forums, visitors books or comments on blogs. The same rule also applies to mobile phones. Broadcasting and storage of this type of data are equally prohibited.

11. I will safeguard my passwords, they are like my house key. However, teachers have access to them and can look at documents I store.

12. The publication of a person's photograph on Internet cannot be done without his or her consent; only the first names of pupils can appear with photographs related to school's site.

13. I do not have the right to publish any contents of my class or school's sites without a teacher's authorisation. I will not alter any pages worked on by my school friends without their consent.

Dear parents,

The ability to use the media, pictures, and information and communication technologies (MITIC) appropriately is a key skill that every pupil should be able to acquire.

In view of this, your child uses Information Technology tools in class under the supervision of his/her teacher for many and various activities.

Reflecting upon the risks linked to the use of digital tools is part of pupils' training. To set guidelines for the use of digital technologies in class, the school has established an Information Technology charter that defines rules and obligations for all pupils. You can find it in your child's school diary.

Every pupil will read it carefully in class with a teacher, in order to understand its content and commit to comply with it. As legal representatives, we ask you to support this commitment. You can take the opportunity of reading the charter with your child to discuss the use of the media, pictures, and information and communication technologies within your family context.
